

Happy February!

We start February with the Super Bowl. It's hard to believe that the first "Super Bowl" was played January 15, 1967 between Green Bay and Kansas City, has grown to where it is today. The first Super Bowl was not sold out because tickets were priced too high at $12.00!

The half time show consisted of Al Hirt, the University of Arizona and Grambling State Marching Bands, plus two people who zoomed around the stadium on Bell Rocket Beltz. Today, people tune in the Super Bowl for the half time show or just watch the commercials.

Rocky Seto, a former coach on the Seattle Seahawks, says "Jesus Christ is better than the Super Bowl". Rocky spent nine (9) years playing and coaching at the University of Southern California and seven (7) years coaching at Seattle. In 2017, Rocky was making a high six figure income as assistant defensive coordinator for the Seahawks.

Seto, in his journal, wrote down his life priorities: 1. Jesus; 2. his Wife; 3. his Children and 4. Work. With those priorities, Rocky left coaching to go into the ministry. Trusting in God, Rocky and his family moved from Seattle to Los Angeles.

Is Jesus better than the Super Bowl? We don't need to become pastors but we can honor God in our work at our Super Bowl gathering; wherever God places us, we can be used for God's glory.

So, ask yourself "What is Jesus better in than in my life? How do I live that answer out? Or do we ask the question the other way around, What is better in my life than Jesus?"

What are your top four (4) priorities in life?

*Your Interim in Christ,
Pastor Newell Embley*
